

“I am my Beloved’s, and my Beloved is mine.”

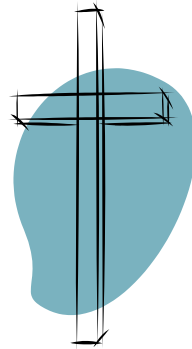

self-obsession

burden of being god (without any of the resources)

separation (independence)

ever-diminishing joy

death

identify with the Beloved put down god-burden, and put on double-yoke of Christ

commitment (dependence)

die to death; die to the rotting disease of self-centeredness celebration of the Beloved burden is light, and the yoke is easy (pleasant)

-- Matthew 11:28-30

connection (delight)

ever-increasing joy

alive to Life; alive to healing and radiance
